J. WILKES BOOTH.

Interesting Reminiscences of the How like that fearful night of "Richard" Assassin.

Sketch of His Theatrical Career.

From the Philadelphia Inquirer. While yet very young, Wilkes Booth became an habituc at the theater. His traditions and tastes were all in that direction. His blood was of the stage, like that of the Keans, the Kembles, and the Wallacks. He would not commence at the bottom of the ladder and climb from round to round, nor take part in more than a few Thespian efforts. One night however a young acnor take part in more than a few Thespian efforts. One night, however, a young actor, who was to have a benefit and wished to fill the house, resolved, for the latter purpose, to givo Wilkes a chance. He announced that a son of the great Booth of tradition would enact the part of lichmond, and the announcement was enough. Before a crowded place Booth plaved so badly that he was hissed. Still holding to his gossamer hope; and high conceit, Wilkes induced John S. Clarke, who was then addressing bls sister, to obtain him a then addressing bis sister, to obtain him a position in the company of the Arch Street Theater at Philadelphia.

BOOTH IN "UTILITY BUSINESS. For eight dollars a week Wilkes Booth at the age of twenty-two, contracted with William Wheatley to play in any piece opart for which he might be cast, and to appear every day at rehearsal. He had to play the "Courier," in Sheridan Knowless wife, on the first night, with tive or ten lit-tle speeches to make; but such was his ner-vousness that he blundered continually and quite baulked the piece. Soon after ward he undertook the part of one of the Venetian courades in Hugo's Lucre orgia, and was to have said in his turn-"Madame, I am Petruchio Paudolfo;" l stead of which he exclaimed-"Madame, I am Pondolfio Pet., Pedolfi Pat., Pantuchio Ped.; —it! what am I?" The audience roared, and Booth, though full of chagrin, was compelled to laugh wit

The very next night he was to play Day con, an important part in Moore's traged of "The Gamester." He had bought a ne dress to wear on this night; and made abun daut preparation to do himself honor. therefore invited a lady whom he knew t visit the theater, and witness his trimmpl But at the instant of his appearance on th stage, the audience, remembering the P truchlo Pandolfo of the previous night burst into laughter, hisses, and mock a plause, so that he was struck dumb, and stood rigid, with nothing whatever to say. Mr. John Dolman, to whoso Stuketey he played, was compelled, therefore, to strike Dausson entirely out of the piece.

These occurrences nettled Booth, who protected that he studied with following the straight of the product of the product protested that he studied faithfully, but tha Fredericks the stage manager, made constant complaints of Booth, who, by the way did not play under his full name, but as Wirkes, and he bore the general reputation of having no promise, and being a carele fellow. He associated freely with such the subordinate actors as he liked; but by the subordinate actors as he liked; but being, through Clarke, then a rising favorite of better connections, might, had he choen, advanced himself socially, if not artistically. Clarke was to have a benefit or evening, and to euact, among other thing a mock "Richard III," to which he allow wilkes Booth to play a real "Richmond.

On this occasion, for the first time, Boot showed some energy, and obtained som applause. But, in general, he was stumbling and worthless. I myself remember on three consecutive nights, hearing hin trip up and receive suppressed hisses.

He lacked enterprise; other young actors instead of waiting to be given better parts committed them to memory, in the hope that their real interpreter might not count to haud. Among these I recall John Mc Cullough, who afterwards because quite celebrated actor. He was getting, if I con rectly remember, only six dollars a week while Booth obtained eight. Yet Wilke Booth seemed too slow or indifferent to go on the weather side of such chances. If still held the part of third walking gentl man, and the third is always the first to l walked off in case of strait, as was Wilk-Booth. He did not survive a forty week engagement, nor make above three hu dred dollars in all that time. The Kelle arrived; they cut down the company, and they dispensed with Wilkes Booth. He is embered in Philadelphia by his failu as in the world by his crime.

About this time a manager named Kun-kle gave Booth a salary of twenty dollars a week to go to the Richmond theater. There he played a higher order of parts, and played them better, winning applause in the easy provincial cities, and taking, as everywhere, tho ladies by storm. I have BOOTH AT RICHMOND, never wondered why many actors were strong y predisposed toward the South There their social status is ninetimes as big as with us. The hospitable, lounging, buzing character of the Sortherner is entire consonant with the cosmopolitanism of the stage, and that easy, "hang-up-your-hat ativeness," which is the rule and the de ativeness," which is the rule and the de-mand in Thespianship. We place actors outside of society, and execrate them be-cause they are there. The South took them into affable fellowship and was not ruined by it, but beloved by the fraternity. Booth played two seasons in Richmond, and left

BOOTH AT THE JOHN BROWN RAID When the John Brown raid occurred, Booth left the Richmond Theater for the scene of strife in a picked company with which he had sfilliated for some time. From his connection with the militia on this occa-sion he was wont to trace his fealty to Virginia. He was a non-commissioned officer and remained at Charlestown till after the ecution, visiting the old pikeman in jail, nd his company was selected to form the uard around the scaffold when John own went, white-haired, to his account ere may be in this a consolation for the nonizers of the first arm-bearer between sections, that one whose unit swelled shost to crush out that brave old life ook from the scene inspiration enough to lay a merciful President in his uususpect-ng leisure. Booth never referred to John Brown's death in bravado; possibly at tha callows began some such terrible purpos is he afterward consummated.

BOOTH GOES OUT AS A STAR. It was close upou the beginning of the war when Booth resolved to transform himself from a stock actor to a "star." As many will read this who do not understand uch Idistinctions, let me preface it by explaining that a "star" is an actor who belongs to no one theater, but travels from ach to all, playing a few weeks at a time and sustained in his chief character by the gular stock actors, A stock actor is a od actor and a poor fool. A star is nn ad-rtisement in tights, who grows rich and rrupts the public taste. Booth was a ar, and being so, had an agent. The eut is the trumpeter who goes on before, rgeut is the trumpeter who goes on before, writing the impartial notices which you see in the editorial columns of country papers, and counting noses at the theater doors booth's agent was one Matthew Canning, an exploded Philadelphia lawyer, who took to mauaging by passing the bar; and J. Wilkes no longer, but our country's rising tragelian, J. Wilkes Booth opened in Montgomery, Alabama, In his father's consecrated part of Richard III.

It was very different work between receiving eight dollars a week and getting eiving eight doilars a week and getting alf the gross proceeds of every perfor-nance. Booth kept northward when his ngagement was done, playing in many ities such parts as "Roneo," the "Corsi-an Brothers," and "Raphael" in the Mar-dle Heart. In all of these he gained ap-lanse, and his journey eastward, ending n Ensiern cities like Providence, Portland nd Boston, was a long success, in part de-erved. In Boston he received especial commendation for his enactment of "Rich-

Or this, from some of Booth's female vie et me sit heavy ou thy soui 'o-morrow'; that was washed to death with luisome wine; or Charence, by thy guile betrayed to death; -morrow, in tho battle, think ou me! Despair a

These terrible conjurations must have r alled how aptly the scene so often re earsed by Booth, sword in hand, where caping from his bed, he cries in horror:

"Give me another horse, bind up my wounds! Have mercy, Jesu', Seft! I did but dream. Oh! coward conscience how thou dost afflict me. The lights burn bine. It is now dead midnight! Coid, tearful drops stand on my trembling flesh, Winat do I fear? Myself? there is none else by: Is there a murderer here? No!—Yes!—I am! Then By—what! from myself?

My confeience is the a thousand several tale, And every tengue brings in a several tale, And every tale condemns me for a villan! Permry, permry in the highest degree: Murder, stern murder in the direct degree: Murder, stern murder in the direct degree.

By these starring eugagements, Bootl ade incredible sums. His cash books, for ne single seasou, showed earnings deposi ed in bauk of twenty-two thousand and dd dollars. In New York he did not get t earing, except at a benefit or two; where e played parts not of his selection. In hiladelphia his early failure predisposed the people to discard bim, and they did. But ho had made enough and resolved to invest his wiunings. The oil fever had just begun; he hired au agent, sent him to the vestern districts and gave him discretion ry power; his investments all turned

ROOTH AS A MAN OF BUSINESS Booth died, as far as understood, withou ebts. The day before the murder he paid n old friend a hundred dollars which ad borrowed two days previously. I anked at Jay Cooke's, in Washingto enerally, but turned most of his funds in stock and other matters. He gave eight ollars eight mouths ago for a part invest-ent with others in a piece of western ol and. The certificate for this land he gave Just before he died his age of his sister. That the share was worth fifeen thousand dollars. Booth kept his ac ants latterly with great regularity, and s lavish as ever, but took note of all ex enditures, however irregular. He was ne of those men whom the possession of noney seems to have energized; his life o purposeless long before, grew by goo ortinue to a strict computation with the corld. Yet what availed so sudden refo and of what use was the gainin wealth, to throw one's life se soon away leap from competence to hunted i BOOTH'S FACE, GAIT AND DRESS None of the printed pictures that I have een do justice to Booth. Some of th artes de risite get him very nearly. Ile ad one of the finest vital heads I have eve In fact, he was one of the best expe euts of vital beauty I have ever met. B his I refer to physical beauty in the Med an sense, health, shapeliness, power and eautiful poise, and seemingly more pow-rful in repose than in energy. His hands nd feet were sizable, not small, and hiegs were stout and muscular, but inclined bow, like his father's. From his wais p he was a perfect man; his chest being all and broad, his shoulders gently slop ag, and his arms as white as alabaster ut hard as marble. Over these, upour eck which was its proper column, rose th pruice of a fine Doric face, spare at th aws, and not anywhere over-ripe, but eamed with a nose of Roman model, the nly relic of his half Jewish relic of his half Jewish pareu-which gave decision to the thought-stern sweep of two direct dark es. meaning to woman snare, and to un yes, meaning to woman share, and to than search warrant, while the lofty square prehead and square brows were crowned with a weight of curling jetty hair, like n ich Corinthian capital. His profile was aglish, and afar his countenance was uighty. He seemed throat full of intreections, ambitious self-examinings, eyerides into the future, as if it withheld him mething to which he had a right. I have see wondered whether the moody demea r did not come of a guilty spirit; but al ne Booths look so.

Wilkes spoke to me in Washington for e first time three weeks before the murer. His address was winning as a girl's rising in effect not from what he said, bu from how he said it. It was magnetic and I can describe it therefore by its effects alone. I seemed, when he had spo ken, to lean toward this man. His atti tude spoke to me; with as easy familiarity as I ever observed he drew near and con versed. The talk was on so trite thing hat it did not lie a second in the head but when I left him it was with the feel that a most agreeable fellow had pas The next time the name of Wilkes Boot curred to me was, like the pistol shot he nurdered the father of the country. Booth was not graceful with his feet, al ugh his ordinary walk was please rts of feucing, manual practice and th andling of weapons.

In his dress he was neat without bein rticular. Almost any clothes could fi n, but he had nothing of the exquisite out him; neck-ties and all such matter rere good without being gaudy. Nature ad done much for him. In this beautiful alace an onlaw had builded his tire, and but and but and builded his tire, and slept, and plotted, and dreamed.

BOOTH'S ALLEGED IRUTALITY ON THE TRACE I have heard it said that Booth frequently out his adversaries upon the stage in sheer wantouness or blood-thirstlness. This is a cuistake, and is attributable to his father the elder Booth, who had the madness of confounding himself with the character Wilkes was too good a fencer to make ugly gashes; his pride was his skill, not his awkwardness. Once he was playing with gashes; his pride was his skill, not his awkwardness. Once he was playing with John McCullough in the last act o "Richard." They were fighting desperately Suddenly the cross-piece on the hit of McCullough's aword flew off and cut the owner deeply in the forehead. Blood rat down McCullough's face, though they continued to struggle, and while, ostensibly Booth was imitating a demon, he said in a half whisper:

"Good God, John, did I hurt you?"
And when they went off the stage Booth

And when they went off the stage Booth was white with fear that he had gashed his

CHARACTER OF BOOTH'S ACTING. As an actor Booth was too energetic to borrect; his conception of "Richard" waivid and original, one of the best that w nave had, and he came nearer his father endering of the last act than anybody w nave had. His combut scene was terrific The statement that his voice had failed has no valid foundation; it was as good when ne challenged the cavalrymen to combat as in the best of his Thespian successes. In all acting that required delicate characterzation, refined conception of carefulness Booth was at sea. But in strong physical parts, requiring fair reading and an abunoance of spring and tension, he was much iner than hearsay would have us believe. His "Romeo" was described a short time ago, by the Washington Intelligencer, a he most satisfactory of all renderings of hat fine character. He played the "Cors can Brothers' three weeks ou a run in Boston. He played "Pescara" at Ford's Theater—his last mock part in this world—on morrow (Saturdny) night, six weeks ago

CLOSING SCENES.

Ou the morning of the murder Booth breakfasted with Miss Carrie Hoan, the langhter of a merchant, and a very respectable young lady, at the National Hall. He mose from the table at say eleven o'clock. During the breakfast those who watched him say that he was as lively niquant and inn say that he was as lively, piquant and elf-possessed as ever in his life. That night the horrible crime thrilled the land. A period of crippled flight succeeded. Llving in swamps, upon trembling hospitality, upon hopes which sank as he leaned upon them. Booth passed the night in perilous route or broken sleep, and in the end went down like a brave, but in the sweet of the light who read his history. yes of all who read his history, commanding no respect for his valor, charity for his otive, or sympathy for his sin.

past few days, since the receipt of th ad intelligence of the dreadful tragedy at Vashington, will in the future form an im-ortant chapter in the history of Louisians. The doleful news fell upon this city like a lap of thunder, producing a horrible stu-oor of terror and dismay. Midday had early set in before the friends of Presient Lincoln could realize that he, who on ay before, stood ou the portico of the Na onal Capitot and so humanely discuss ne human rights of all, was now stiff eath. It was, judeed, sad to contempla But the doubts of all were soon dispelled nd the doubts of an were soon disperied to rders from Gen. Sherman, Gov. Flags at half-mast were visible on a private and public buildings of any not and the usual badges of mourning were seen ou the doors of many houses. half-past two o'clock all the wholesale and retail places in the city were closed, and al ousiness completely suspended. The "cote houses" and billiard saloons were partlelosed, and at seven o'clock every saloo n tho city was closed, and numerous flag nd mourning symbols were still being uspended, until the city presented trikingly mournful appearance.

For certain reasons I have been obliged to efrain saying anything respecting the lownfall of Mobile. Suffice, then all could say at this late date, that Mobile and the lower of the ts surroundings are again under the prote ion of the Federal flag. The city is at pres at in charge of Geu. Granger, but the obability is that he will be soon relieve om that position by Gen. In the capture of Mobile the army is ue itistied, but it still wants to be up and bing, and the latest intelligence from the front conveys to us the opinion that the movement in this department will not cease with the capture of Selma and Montgomery, but that another point of destination will be aimed at, and I am confident the vith such leaders as Steel, Hulburt, Smith ranger, and all uuder the immediate di ection of that true-hearted and noble pa riot, Gen, Cauby, all that is sought aite vill be realized. The Colored Troops in New York. When the colored troops marched up Fifth Avenue in New York city the other day, in the funeral procession of President Lincoln, they were greeted with every mark of respect and consideration from the denizens of that fashiouable neighborhood. zens of that inshibitation heighborno d Men lifted their hats as they passed, and ladies waved their handkerchiefs in toker of their approbation. All this happened after the vulgar assemblage, denominated the Common Council of New York, had wice voted not to give them a place in the procession. The event—for it may proper y be called an event in the anuals of the -shows that a revolution has been ed ed in the hearts of the people, although fected in the hearts of the people, although it has not yet reached the narrow souls of a few Copperhead politicians.

How has this revolution beeu effected? Eighteen months ago it was not safe for a colored man, woman or child, to be seen in the streets of New York. Three years ago last month the speech of Senator Grimes proposing to arm the freedmen of the South, (the first move of the kiud that we tind in the official records of Congress), was deemed premature by many of his Republeeuned premature by many of his Repulican colleagues. A few mouths later a bi bassod Congress, with much difficult; uthorizing the President to receive in the armies persons of African decent, "for the purpose of constructing intrenchment in performing camp service, or any other abor, or any military or navil seavice for which they may be found competent"— he phraseology implying that there was a loubt whether they were fit for any milita-ry service other than the menial occupations of camps and garrisons. The process f camps and garrisons. The process brough which the public mind was finally rought to the belief that colored men could e taught to handle muskets, and that they ro good enough to shoot rebels or to st llets nimed at Union soldiers, seems slo leed: but when we think of the centurl bigotry and prejudice against the Africa ce, in which we have been born and bap red, the progress we have made as a na on in the path of Christian advancemen little less than astounding, and we may e assured that nothing short of the fier ials of war would have sufficed to teach s so noble and valuable a lesson.

The marks of respect paid to the colore roops in New York, where we should lea troops in New York, where we should least have expected them, have been won by the blood of colered men shed in battle. In no other way could they have been won. It was not necessary that the negro soldiers should prove as efficient as white soldiers. That was not to be expected. Intelligence, and the confidence which intelligence alone can inspire, were wanting to the colored troops, and this was a defect not in their surroundings. Yet roops, and this was a defect not in their nanhood, but in their surroundings. Yet was necessary that they should be brave, t was necessary that they should show hemselves possessed of a noble emotion, a the only ordeal where its possession could be thoroughly tested, before they could ope to excite a corresponding emotion in the breasts of those who had been accuspined to look upon them as an inferior and ned to look upon them as an inferior an vile race. Courage is an attribute whic mmands the respect of mankind, and the cisauco made by the money kings and teens of Fifth Avenue to the colored regient was a tribute to courage under a black.
The blood shed at Port Hudson of Wagner and Petersburg was not pour out in vain. It watered the tree of likty. It gave the blacks their title t unerican citizenship, and it gave us of the white race the pleasure of discarding a noworthy prejudice and adopting the pre epts of Christianity in their broadest sens

News of the Day.

The proclamation of President Johnson, offering a large reward for the arrest of any one of the following namedled persons: Jeff. Davis, Jacob Thompson, C. C. Clay, Beverly Tucker, Geo. W. Sanders and W. C. Clearly, will give the country the gratifying assurance of the determination of the Government to bring to justice (if they can by any mans be reached), not only men who were the instruments in the commission of the great crime of the assassination of President Lincoln, and the attempted assassination of Secretary Seward. but The proclamation of President Johnson assassination of Secretary Seward, but those who plotted and instigated the murder. Secretary Stanton telegraphed a few days ago that the Government was in pos-session of evidence which showed that the assassination plot was concocted in Canada, and known by the rebel leaders at Richmond, and doubtless further evidence has since come to light proving the com-plicity of the prominent rebels above nam-ed in the assassination of President Lined in the assassination of President Lincoln. Jacob Thompson was Bchanan's Secretary of the Interior. Last summer he applied for aud obtained from Mr. Lincoln a pass to go through our liues to Canada, representing that he desired to leave the country until the war was over. In return for this kindness from the President, he engaged in a plot to assassinate him, which proved only too successful. C. C. Clay was formerly a United States Senator from Alabama. Beverly Tucker is a Virginian, and if noted for anything, it is for being an inif noted for anything, it is for being an in-tense secessionist. Geo. N. Sanders is a well known political adventurer. Cleary is the private secretary of C. C. Clay. Thompson and some of his rebel associates in Car ada, have been indicted in one of the Canadian courts for violation of the neutrality laws, in being concerned in the St. Alban's raid and robbery.

Right from a Loyal Heart.

New Albany, Ind., May 2, 18 E.Ds. Press: Your article of May 20 Treason—Robert E. Lee," speaks the guage of every true hearted loyalist in country. For weeks past an effort has tought that Texas may be the destination of that portion of Sherman's army on its way to Washingtoy.

The Navy Department has received information of the capture of the blockade runner Cora off the coast of Texas.

The resignations of a large number of and navy officers have been received army and navy at Washington.

Two men named N. W. Brown and W Cochran were brought to Baltimore yester-day nucler guard, having been arrested in Calvert county, charged with the assassination of two soldiers. Oue of them confessed his guilt, shating that he was employed by rebel sympathizers to commit the crue.

The N. Y. Albion says: "A new comic paper will shortly be published in this city, entitled 'Mrs. Grundy.' It is to start under uncommonly good auspices, and is expected to be usually sparkling. The name is chosen with good judgment. We wish the jester a cordial reception and a brilliant career."

The N. Y. Albion says: "A new comic oppression. But in tuture let no one whispers word of treason. THE DAILY PRESS HAS GOD DESERTED THE REBEL

If we are to believe the Rev. Drs. Thornwell, Palmer et id omne genus, God certainly was, at the opening of the war, heavily enlisted on the side of the rebeliion. This fact does not rest, alone, on the evidence of these Southrons, but we are assured that the reverend gentlemen, who went hence to Canada, were ready on all proper occasions to assure their friends of their full belief in the fact. But this is not all. The flag which floated over the secession conventiou in Columbia, S. C., on the 20th of December, 1860, was captured by Gen. F. P. Blair and presented to Gov. Fletcher, of Missouri.

The banner is of silk, richly fringed with builion, upon one side of which is inscribed ln letters of gold

"SOUTH CAROLINA CONVENTION, 1860." On the reverse side is the motto

"SEPARATE STATE ACTION;" a palmetto tree, an open bible, and the following scripture quotations: "God is our refuge and strength, a very resent help in trouble." "The Lord of hosts is with us, the God of Jacoh is our refuge.' Considering that He was with them, Gen. Sherman and his gallant hosts assuredly did make wonderful progress in overthrowing the hosts of rebeldom. We are inclined to think that they only saw Moloch on their side, and in their blindness, (perhaps smoke interfered with their vision, they being mostly fire-eaters,) mistook him for God,

Looking upon the utter desolation of Charleston and the ruins of Columbia, and the terrible devastation of the entire Palmetto State, might we not ask them to,

"Come behold the works of the Lord, what desolation, ile hath made in the earth."
"He maketh war to cease unto the end of he earth: He breaketh the bow and cutteth the spear in sunder; He burneth the chariot in the fire."

"Be still and know that I am God." Is there not great danger that the chivalric Wade Hampton will pour out vials or whole bottles of wrath on God for deserting them in the very pinch of their most desperate necessities.

BUSTS OF THE PRESIDENT. We copy the following from the N. York

A CARD .- Editor N. Y. Tribune: Sir-In your issue of the 19th inst. I notice an arti-cle headed "Jones's Historic Bust of Presi-dent Lincoln," in which it is stated that "it is the only one for which President Lincoln ever sat." This is a mistake. Besides the bust taken by Mr. Volk, as mentioned in against the Government. A number of witnesses were examined yesterday. The testimony is given in our dispatches. sat. The President pronounced it the best that had been taken of him. It was on exhibition at the Philadelphia Fair, and since then in the Rotunda of the Capitol, and is uow in his possession. Jos. AD. THOMSON.

Washington, D. C., April 22, 1865. We beg leave to say to Mr. Thomson that his correction needs correction. The bust made "by W. Marshall Swayne about a year ago" is not "the most recent one for which Mr. Lincoln sat." Mr. Thomson unwittingly does injustice to a meritorious with the instructed away and industered out of the service, unless it is found necessary to send a force to Texas. As Kirby Smith is preparing to surrender, it is not likely these troops will be needed in Texas.

While on a visit to this city, the Hon. Jos. Holt saw these specimens of art and was much surprised at the exquisite character of the work. He said he did not suppose of the work on mere beef bones was possible such to his allegiance to the Government. In the District penitential in the NEW ALBANY, IND., May 2, 1895.

Eds. Press: Your article of May 2d on "Treason—Robert E. Lee," speaks the language of every true hearted loyalist in our country. For weeks past an effort has been made by secessionists and their sympathisers to create a sympathy for General Robert E. Lee, and have the utmost clement of the prisoner of the pr of that portion of Sherman's army on its way to Washingtoy.

The World's special says that evidence his come to light which proves conclusively that the project of kidhapping President Luccht and other officers at Washington, was entertained before the idea of assassinating him was conceived. A house has been discovered, furnished with underground apartments, manacles and all the accessories of private imprisonment for the President and as many as could be gazged and conveyed there, where they were to be kept till they could be taken from the city and carried prisoners into the southern confederacy.

The remains of the late President reached Springfield yesterday. An interesting account of the solemnities will be found in our dispatches.

The Executive orders, prohibiting the exportation of arms and ammunition, and of horses, have been rescinded by the President. lion—what mourning and sadness has he spread through the length and breadth of our land? Is he less guilty than other men; is his treason of a milder type and less infamous than that of private soldiers?"

famous than that of private soldiers?"

No, emphatically no. Gen. Lee is a traitor 10 his Government, doubly dyed and should be doubly damned. He has forfeited, by his crimes under the laws and the Constitution of our country, life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. Then let his guilt stand out in colors so black that future generations will shrink back in horror at the contemplation of his character.

If mercy is to be exercised, let it be extended to the private soldier—the conscript—the ignorant—the victims of that cruel oppression. But in future let no one whisville; aye, and the pulpit, too, has been polluted with the heil-born iniquity—sessions and church rulers have worn the dark habiliment, the anti-Christian ungodly garments of this bloody rebellion. Henceforw, and let the seal of silence be upon their lips—sackcloth and ashes on their heads. And if permitted to live beneath the shadow of the old starry-flag—the banner of freed om—thanksgiving and expressions of joy should daily ascend from their subdued and subjugated hearts. W. F. F. and subjugated hearts.

A FOOD EXAMPLE.

We commend to our patriotic City Fathers the action of the first branch of the Baltimore Common Council. A resolution was passed a manimously against permitting any of the di sloyal citizens who have left that city on a ccount of the rebellion to return: Believing as we do, their presence in our midst will be a constant source of irritation fraught with the deadliest mischief, and fraught with the deathest mischier, and we respectfu.'ly ask of our military authorities, in the most earnest and emphatic language of speech, not to tolerate this the worst of danger ous evils, which will, in all probability, result in collision, terrible in their consequence.'s.

THE TRAMTOR LEE.

The Ciucinnati Ga zette concludes a review of Robert E. Let's political ideas recently promulgated in t. bese words: cently promulgated in these words:

Gen. 1 ee is too much interested in this plea to give it the appearance of testimony in behalf of Jefferson Davis. We hold him not so guilty as Geu. Lee. And we know of no one among the insurgent 9 whose treason was more destitute of any belief in a cause, more aggravated by ingratitude to his country, more guilty of innocent blood, more weak in defent, and more fit a subject to be made an example of, than Gen. Robert E. Lee. ert E. Lee.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON'S FEARLESS PATRIOTISM.

Mr. Johnson, July 4, 1862, avowed: "The strong arm of the Government must fali heavily and terribly on the heads of the men who brought this war on the country. For one, I am resolved to stand by my Government, at whatever personal risk. "I have enlisted for the war, and will not go back. In vain the threat of the assassin's dagger, or the poisoned bowl, for patriots, unintimidated, will press forward to freedom and victory, or falling, will be blessed by posterity."

Galveston papers state that Major General Wharton had been shot by Colonel Baylor, both of the Confederate arm v.

ADAMS' EXPRESS .- We are almost daily indebted to this excellent Institution for New York, Philadelphia and Cincinnati papers, always in advance of Uncle Sam's slow coach, the mail. If the malls in this part of the United States can't be mauaged better than at present, we hope Congress will let the job out to private enterprise. It would be impossible to do worse.

EXTRAORDINARY SUICIDE-AN OLD MAN AND HIS WIFE LEAP FROM THE FERRY-BOAT AND ARE DROWNED.—Thesday evening about seven o'clock, says the Ciuciunal Gazette, a man named Davit, who recently resided in Fifth street, between Scott and Madisou, Covington, in company with his missing, covington, in company with his wife, went on board the ferry boat for the purpose apparently of crossing from this city to their home. As they passed on board they spoke genially to the Captain of the boat; walked through the cabiu to the opposite side, and stood looking in the water until they reached mid-river, when the man suddenly jumped overboard, his wife

following him upon the instaut.

A young man, who happened to be near, caught the dress of the womau and held it until torn from the waist, making every ef fort to prevent the self-slanghter, but with out success. The parties sank and found common grave

By those who knew them best the pair were much esteemed, and they had gathered about their declining years troops of friends. They were about firty years of age, and in excellent health. The suicide seems to have been preconcerted and agreed on by both; but for what reason will, iu all probability, remain a scaled book, until the history of Time shall be read in Eternity.

EDS. PRESS.—Some correspondent seems to have thrown doubt on information furnished you by the writer, in reference to the identity of "Bill Marion." Stanly Young did have a relative named Marion, living in Louisville some years sinec, uotwithstanding your correspondent's asser-tion to the contrary. He could not have goue to Tennessee to join the rebel army after killing Marsh (or Marshall), at Brandenburg, for there was no Confederate army ristence at that time.

f "Bill Marion" was Sinclair Young's son at all (as has been represented), it must have been Stanly, and no other.

The information in regard to the personal apperance of Stanly Young was furnished by a responsible person. Did it correspend with that of Bill Marlon ?- TEds.

CORRESTION .- In our notice of the capture of the two burglars, White and Dix, we give all the credit to officer McGuire. We were led to this by the testimony of Mc-Guire before the Police Court, Mr. Moore, private watchman in the block where the burglars were arrested, states that he fer-retted out the burglars, and not being clothed with power to make arrests, went house on the next bicek and lire; that McGuire only took the men to jail. Mr. Moore also states that McGuire went to the Police Court and reported himself as a witness and left Mr. Moore out. We publish this only as simple institute to Mr. Moore out. ple justice to Mr. Mcore.

JAMES A. BLAKLEY.—Some time sin this gentleman, who is a member of the 35th Kentucky mounted infantry, was captured by the rebels, and was reported dead. He returned to his home in Hart county a few days ago, and found that his wife had mov-ed away. He desires to let his wife know that he is at the Soldiers' Home, in Louisville, and wishes her to write and inform him of her whereabouts. He ls wounded in the ankle, and will not be able to wall for some time. If this meets the eye of his wife she will either write to him or come to Louisville. Papers copying this will confer a favor on a wounded soldier.

CHAPLAIN GRUBB.—We had the pleasu of a call from this thoroughly loyal officer, who left his regiment, the gallant 26th Ken-tucky. Coi. T. B. Fairleigh, formerly commanded by the late lamented Col. Mr. Seward Rapidly Recovering. NEW YORK, May 3.—The Post's Washington correspondent says Mr. Seward is so well he is expected to take his place in the cabinet meetings in a few days.

The newspaper accounts of the attempt to assassinate him were generally incorrect. Payne, the assassin, had only an opportunity to strike one blow at Mr. Seward, who was at the time sitting in bed. The knife struck the swelling over the fractured jaw, and didn't touch the throat. At that instant Robinson, the nurse, clutched Payue from behind and didn't for a moment let go his hold, although stabbed four Mr. Seward rolled off on the floor, felgning death. Prisoners Chargod with being Concerned in the Assassination.

WASHINGTON, May 3 .- About midnight last Saturday the steamer Keyport was or-dered to Navy Yard. She received from the monitors Sougerset and Montank per-sons who have been arrested as directly concerned in the conspiracy to murder the President and other Union leaders, who number fifteen meu and one woman. These prisoners are all heavily ironed, with a ball and chain on each leg, and hand-cuffed in such a manner as to keep their hands sev-eral inches apart, and some of the moro des-perate ones having their hands fastened behind their back. A sort of sack covered the head and face of each, leaving only tho mouth and nostrils exposed, so as to pre-vent their recognition by each other or any ne else.

A special sentinel is in charge of each prisouer. A signal was given for the Key-port to start. The steamers bell rang slowy and nearly all muffled. The prisoners gave a convulsive start at the souud, evi-lently thinking that their hour of retribution had come. They were transferred to-the District penitentiary adjoinging the ar-senal where cells have been provided for them. Two prisoners occupy each cell, but the seutlnel in charge of each man prevents any conversation.

Capture of a Blockade Runner--Official Report of the Capture of the Rebel Ram Webb.

Washington, May 3.—Information has been received of the capture of the blockade running steamer Cora, on the 25th ult., by the U.S. steamer Quaker City, thirteen miles east of Brazos, Texas. The Cora is a stern-wheel steamer, and was bound from Corpus Chisti, Texas, to Bagdad, Mexico, with a cargo of lumber.

The Department also received the follow

Disposal of Booth's Body. WASHINGTON, May 3.—The vexed ques-ion as to the disposal of the remains of J.

Wilkes Booth is at length settled by a siate meut which may be regarded as final. After the head and heart, which have been deposited in the Army Medical Museum in this city, had been removed, the corpse was placed in charge of two men who, after vaious movements calculated to baffle Impertinent enriosity, dug a grave in a little spot of ground close to the politentiary, where for some years felons have been buried. Booth's body was deposited here and the earth over it was smoothed and carefully sodded. Other graves of less infamous felons had previously been leveled, and a strong guard is now in charge of the spot, and will continue to keep it nudisturbed till the grass has grown so thick that uo one will ever be able to distinguish the place where the assassin's corpse was interred from the other nameless graves

Their apprehension is considered as almost eertain.

SYMPTOMS. The Symtoms of Catarrh are at first very slight. Persons find they have a cold, then they have frequent at-tacks, and are more sensitive to the changes of tempera-thre. In this condition, the nase may be dry, or a slight ischarge, thin and acrid, afterward thick and adhesive As the disease becomes chronic, the discharges are lucreased in quantity and changed in quality; they are now thick and heavy, and are hawked or conghed off. The seretions are offensive, causing a bad breath; the volce thick and nasal; the eyes are weak; the sense of smell is essened or destroyed; deafness frequently takes place. Another common and important symptom of Catarth is that the person is obliged to clear his threat in the morn-ing of a thick or silmy mucens, which has fallen from the head during the night. When this takes place the person may be sure that his disease is on its way to the lungs, and should kee no time in arresting it.

The above are but few of the many Catarrhal symptoms

Jeff Davis -- Probability of his Capture. KNOXVILLE, May 2.—Information from stoneman's cavalry states that Jell Davis was at Yorkville, South Carolina, on the 25th. All of Stoneman's forces came in the following day. Jeff has one day the start of Stoneman. Davis is escorted by two thousand cavalry well mounted, and commanded by Gen. Dibbrell. He is accompanied by Benjamin, Breckinridge, and other notabilities, and will probably be joined by all the desperadoes fleeing from justice, and from the vengeance of the United States. It is hoped that Gen. Stoneman's forces will overtake and capture Davis, as he is burdened with 11 wagons supposed to conburdened with 11 wagons supposed to con

Plot of the Assassins--Further Developments.

New York, May 3.—The World has a lengthy and graphic plot against the rulers of the nation, which contains the following points: "Booth was the original projector of the crime. It was seconded by parties in Canada. He was furnished with a transferor accounties in Paine, from that murderous accomplice in Paine, from that section. Mrs. Surratt was the mother of the Ceuci. Booth found another bloody acplice in Atzerot. The route for the es cape was planned two weeks prior to the act Atzerot was the man who had the room ove ce-President Johnson's. He ran away s hear resident Johnson S. He rait away so he stily that he left all his arms and baggage also a coat belonging to Booth. When Booth escaped Harrold went with him They reached Surrait's at midnight aud stupped at Lloyd's Hotel and got a bottle of whisky, Both remaining on his horse farroid went up stairs and got a carbine doyd offered another, but Harroid sai oth had broken his leg and couldn . As they rode off, Booth called or "We have murdered the Presi ent and the Secretary of State."

He reached Dr. Mudd's house before sur rise, and Booth had his broken leg set with an old fashioued wooden board—a box had to be split for splinters. Dr. Mudd says he did not know who they were. The following accomplices are all under arrest except Surratt: Capt. Jett; Spangler the stage carponter; Alfred Samuel Arnold, of Baltimore, who claims to have backed out of the party; Capt. Jett, who look Booth behind him on his horse; Atzeret, who was assigned to kill the Vices President; Mrs. Surratt, the witness of the party in the stage of the capture of the stage of the president; Mrs. Surratt, the witness of the party in the stage of the capture of the stage of the capture of the stage of the capture of the stage o iracy: Mclaughlin, friend and combof Booth; Dr. Mudd, who set Booth; bloyd, who entertained the assassing and gave them a carbine; Sam'l Coxter, who concealed and fed Booth; Harrold, captured with Booth; Paine, who attempted the life of Secretary Seward; Mr. and Mrs. Adams, of Newport, believed to have assisted Booth;
